

Bandinfo WhãZho:

They stood in the rehearsal room and had their first gig, no guitarist and no songs ... this was the trigger for the brilliant start of WhãZho 2015. The looper became their best friend and many other devices joined them - the motto "more is more" was capitalized for a while and Gutfeeling Records became the homebase.

Consisting of Philip Groß (drums, samples, effects, glockenspiel) and Christian Riedel (bass, synths, loops & effects), they move with mainly instrumental songs through all genres and styles and rush with fascination for effect-rich loops and samples through the provincial metropolises, to create a digital/analog sound world as a couple. Gladly also live with various guest musicians. Pop glamour in the form of visual art by VJ Zava was still missing, so they packed it in - it's a must!
